WASHINGTON, August 22.—The gossipers are beginning to gossip about a successor to the late Senator Hill, of Georgia. Several names have been mentioned, but the most prominent of these are Alexander H. Stephens and Governor Colquitt. Colquitt, no doubt, would be glad to fill the vacancy, but if Stephens would accept it he would undoubtedly be the man. It is very doubtful, however, whether he would accept under any circumstances. He said a few days ago, in answer to a query upon this subject, that he would not be a candidate for the Senate at any time. If I am elected I shall understand that the people who elect me want me to be their governor. Besides, I have no ambition to be a senator." This remark is undoubtedly a true exponent of Mr. Stephens's feelings upon the subject. He has often expressed himself as enamored of the House. He considered it the field for an active man, and considered it the Beid for an active man, and preferred being a great commoner to hold-ing a seat in the Senate of the United States.
